

Introduction to social research – dr Pawel Rydzewski

Course duration: one semester

Number of ECTS credits: 4.0

The lecture will present characteristics of quantitative research methods in the social sciences, with particular emphasis on questionnaire surveys as the most popular in sociology. Construction of various types of survey questions, a research tool as a whole and a variety of research techniques in the framework of surveys and interviews will be discussed.