PerkinElmer Poland

Creating the largest Customer Relationship Center in Krakow

In Poland, we are located in Warsaw and Kraków. Our Warsaw site is home to our sales and service operations in support of our customer base in Poland, while our new Kraków site is a Customer Relationship Center (CRC). Since September 2012 we have been expanding our capability to deliver customer excellence. Currently the CRC employs 200 people and mainly serves countries in Europe, as well as our export countries in North Africa, Middle East and Asia.

Hiring Local Talent

Contributing to Krakow's growing job market

PerkinElmer plays a leading role in contributing to Kraków's growth as an innovation hub by attracting bright talent, many from local universities. We are offering employment opportunities which are unique on Kraków labor market: close connection to the world of scientific research, exposure to the newest cutting-edge technologies, and a broader scope of tasks than it is typical in local shared service centers. Currently the Kraków office is significantly expanding to provide high quality services in our two core business functions, Finance and Customer Care. We are recruiting for teams to work with Nordic and Benelux countries, as well as with the UK, Ireland, Germany, Austria and Switzerland markets. We are also seeking to hire law professionals to work in contract administration, biotechnologists and chemists to join our inside sales departments, marketing specialists to further grow our e-commerce capabilities and information technology engineers of various skills to develop our software. Our offer is designed for people with various educational backgrounds, ranging from life, technical and social sciences, and with various experience levels.

Serving Customers around the World

Meeting and exceeding customer needs with knowledge and expertise

Our Kraków office is constantly in a passionate conversation with our customers, who are mainly research and high-tech institutions, acting at the forefront of innovation in the life sciences, diagnostics and environmental markets. We anticipate their needs and contribute to their successes. As an integral part of our global organization, we also collaborate with our internal customers, PerkinElmer sales and service organizations, to deliver outstanding results. This cooperation is equally inspiring as the dialog with our external customers.
