Scientific Program of the Symposium

The main aim of the Symposia is the intensification of contacts between Polish and Ukrainian research teams dealing with the theoretical and experimental studies of surface phenomena and their applications in various branches of research and industry.

Scope of the Symposium:

1. Adsorption and adsorbents.
2. Catalysis and catalysts.
3. Ion exchange and Chromatography.
5. Human health and Environment protection.

The above list is by no means conclusive. The Scientific Committee is ready to consider the extension of the Symposium scope onto any related topic, if it fits to the general framework of the Symposium.

The Symposium program includes oral presentations (MS PowerPoint files: multimedia) and posters (80 × 120 cm).

The preferred symposium language is English. All visual materials for oral presentation and poster presentations should be prepared in English.

The contributions to the Abstracts volume - one (1) full page long in English should be submitted by e-mail only to the Organising Committee before May 8, 2020. The Scientific Committee will inform the authors about its decision and may request a revision, in which case the revised version (or galley proofs) should be submitted before May 22, 2020. The submission is the MS Word file attached to the e-mail message. The downloadable Template, along with the Instruction for Authors, is posted at the Symposium web-page:
