Description	The module covers the knowledge in the area of international political economy and global governance in particular. The main objective of the course is to familiarize students with one of most prominent aspects of international relations of 21 st century as well as the Post-Cold War era. Since Global governance is and has been a phenomenon not only in the framework of global institutions such as UN (United Nations), but also in the framework of regional organizations such as EU, ASEAN, and AU (African Union), this course will take up the governance in Europe, Asia, and Africa in particular as a relevant case. In addition, this course deals with global hot issues such as epidemics such as COVID-19), migration and so on. Then, overall picture of global governance and challenges ahead of us will be demonstrated.
