ABOUT CESKE BUDEJOVICE

Ceske Budejovice is the largest city in the South Bohemian Region as well as its political and commercial capital, the seat of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Ceske Budejovice, the University of South Bohemia, and the Academy of Sciences.

It is located in the center of a valley of the Vltava River, at the confluence with the Malse.

Budejovice has long been well known for the beer brewed there since the 13th century. For a time, the town was the imperial brewery for the Holy Roman Emperor, and Budweiser Bier, became, along with Pilsner, one of the best-known lagers.

The old town preserves interesting architecture from the Gothic, Renaissance, Baroque, and 19th century periods.

The Museum of South Bohemia dates to 1877 and holds a large collection of historic books, coins, weapons and other articles.
